informed the American Embassy that trade negotiations which included the sale of oil were under way with the USSR, Poland and 'Czechoslovakia. He thought the Czech delegation was particularly anxious to conclude an agreement and was offering payment in foreig exchange. When it was pointed out to Akhavi that oil sales to the Orbit conflicted with the Battle Act, he stated that if Iran could get more by selling oil to the Soviet bloc than by accepting American aid it would do business with the Orbit. Comment: Iranian spokesmen have on other occasions used the threat of selling oil to the Soviet Orbit in an attempt to obtain concessions from the United States. Britain and Egypt agree on presentation of credentials: Britain's Ambassador Stevenson will present new credentials to the Egyptian Regency Council, avoiding mention of the King's titled.

Comment: Foreign Minister Gruber recently informed the American Embassy that his government has tentatively decided to offer to negotiate a trade agreement with the Soviet Union, since it was under strong pressure from Austrian businessmen, and expected a Soviet initiative. Gruber, while agreeing to postpone an approach until September, urged an American expression of opinion by that time since he anticipated that the issue would "become public this autumn."
